IST TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE. Boston, Sept. 11 .- Recently, in answer to the inquiry of a friend as to his opinion respecting the Republican prespects in 1884, Mr. Blaine said: "At the sent time I regard the prospects of the Republicans in campaign of 1881 better than they were a year before the campaign of 1880, and in every way more hopeful than there were a year prior to the election of 1876. has not been so general a feeling of her-For years they has been purty as exists at the mony in the Ropublican purty as exists at the mony in the Ropublican purty as exists at the thing like unity of sentiment on the the leading town, the tarif, by the Democratic leaders leads in the ligent men to distrust that organization more tan ever. THE NEW-JERSEY GOVERNORSHIP.

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES FOR THE PLACE-AB-BETT'S STRENGTH INCREASING.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.] TRENTON, N. J., Sept. 11 .- The political skirmishers who precede the Democrats have begun to appear at the hotels. For the most part they are men of gor importance. The van of the main body of the army will arrive by noon to-morrow.

The developments of to-day have introduced few new Elements into the Governorship contest. The strength of Abbett over the other candidates increases hourly as the returns come in from the primaries. The strike between the Albright and Abbett factions has denly assumed a bitter complexion, upon its becoming evident that Abbett was seeking the nomination for bimself, or, at least, the personal control of the convention. This has caused the lines to be drawn sharply between the Abbett and Albright delegates, and it is found that scores of the votes counted upon by the latter are really for the former. Unless Abbett concludes not to take the nomination himself, the contest after the complimentary voting for a score of dark horses on the firs ballot will quickly narrow to one between Abbett and Albright, and the former is almost certain to win. Ambng the most prominent of the men now openly in favor of Abbett is United States Senator McPherson.

The Trenton Times, which has the reputation of being the organ of the State House Wing, this afternoon says:
"The Democratic situation in New-Jersey, at present, is Inmistakably controlled by Leon Abbett. He can have the nomination himself, he can give it to Andrew Albright, or he can nominate a compromise candidate who will be distasteful to neither side. He cannot, however, but up any man except Albrigai who would be distasteful to the opposition element of the party." This is taken as a notice of the intention of the State House Wing of the party to make no active contest in the convention, unless their enemies become typived in quarrels which make if possible for a stampod to be effectually started in favor of Joel Parker or John P. Stockton.

THE TEMPERANCE ISSUE IN IOWA. A TALK WITH JOHN A. KASSON-ATTITUDE OF THE

PARTIES CLEARLY DEFINED. FROM A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT OF THE TRIBUNE. Dawson, Dak., Sept. 7 .- Congressman John Karson of Iowa, who is a member of the Villard excursion party, was asked yesterday by THE TRIBUNE'S correspondent what he thought of the political outlook in his State,

The Republicans will carry the State," he said, "by at least 20,000 majority, and probably a good deal more. In the cities we shall perhaps lose some on account of he temperance issue, but in the rural districts we shall gain votes. I aduressed a few meetings before I came away, and I found the Republicans confident and en-thusissic. There will be no backing down in any way from the stand we have taken on the temperance ques-

"Does that involve a re-enactment of the Prohibition

Macadasent to the Constitution!"

"Not necessarily. Our position on that question has been misunderstood. That is not a party issue. The people of the State, laying aside all technicalities, voted people of the State, laying aside all technicalities, voca-by a large majority in favor of a Prombitory amend-ment. We would be false to the principles of Republican Divergment if we did not recognize the fact that the majority rule. To adopt the amendment again, which is ressary by the decision of the Supreme Court, it passed by two Legislatures and then voted upon must be passed by two Legislatures and then voted upon by the people. As a majority have once declared in avor of it, we assert that the Legislatures are in duty bound to now the majority of the people to bound to pass the amendment and permit the people to role on it again. The Democrats, however, are not falling to recognize the the decision at the polls, but de-tare in layor of a license law, which is simply a method of accuming tree whister." "How is the debate between Governor Sherman and

"I taink it results in favor of the Governor. He is andience but makes no points for the 'boys' to laugh at.

Mr. Kinne has a more theatrical effect, and delights theboys, but the reasoning effect of the joint debates is decidedly with the Governor."

"Mr. Weaver asserts that the Republicans are hypocritical on the temperance question."

"That is ribleulous. Our position is that the people must be allowed to decide this question. We adhere stoutly and aggressively to the position we took in our platform. Mr. Weaver, however, in his platform declared one way and in his speeches another. He is working for free whaskey, and is thoroughly hypocritical in the matter." "Will you return in time to take part again in the canvas-?"

"Yes. Our election is held this year in October, and I shall be home again before the last of September."

REPUBLICAN PRIMARIES IN BROOKLYN.

INTERESTING CONTESTS IN SEVERAL WARDS-CAN-

DIDATES AND THEIR AMBITIONS. The Republican voters in the wards of Brooklyu and the towns of Kings County elected last evening the delegates to the Assembly District Conventions to be held to-morrow evening, when the forty-two delegates from Kings County to the Richfield Springs Con-Vention will be elected. At the Assembly District Conventions delegates to a Judiciary Convention to nom inate a Judge of the Supreme Court will also be named. For the first time Kings County will be represented by four State Committeemen, as the new Congressional District is given to Brooklyn The present representatives on the State Committee are William H. Beard, Marcas Baird and S. T. Maddox. Mr. Beard represents the old Hd District, but his ward is now in the IVth District. The new IId District includes the Eighth, Ninth, Twelfth, Twenty-second, Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth Wards of the city and all the towns of the county. The man credited with a desire to represent the district in the State Committee are Silas B. Dutcher, .E. H. Hobbs, F. M. Elgerion and John H. Kemble, Tae only ward in this district where there were two tickets was the Twenty-second, where one side was fied by Mr. Kemble and the other by Ames F. Learned. The former was the Twenty-second, where one side was fied by Mr. Kemble and the other by Amos F. Learned. The former was defeated.

The most interest in the primaries was taken in the Hidd District, including the Sevepth, Tairtecath, Nineteenth, Twentecht, Twenty-first and Twenty-third wards. The aspirants for the State Committeeship are Marcus H. Baird (who now holds the place), W. H. Leayeratt (who preceded him) and John A. Nichols, also formerly on the State Committee, Tae fight in the primary in the Twentieth Ward was very close between what are called the Schroeder and the Goodrich factions, each of which put a ticket in the field. A large number of votes was polled and the ticke a were as much scratched that at midnight the count was not completed. It was thought that the Goodrich faction suffered defeat. In the Twenty-first Ward the contest was equally close, and two Hekets were voted for. The opposition to Mr. Baird, who headed one side, was led by Darwin R. James.

William H. Beard desires to continue in the State Committee and to represent the IVan District, which is made up of the First, Second. Taird, Furth, Fifth, Sixth, Tenth and Eleventh Wards. Michael J. Dudy, of the Fourth Ward, who now holds an important Federal position, would like to have Mr. Beard's place. A ticket in opposition to Mr. Dady was run at the primary in the Fourth Ward, who may have sun at the primary in the Fourth Ward was no close contest in any other ward in the district. It is asserted that Gracal James Jourdan would not be invaling to return to the State Committee to represent this district. The First Ward Republicans urge the selection of Edwin Packard or Alexander Forman.

In the Vin District, composed of the Poarteenth, Fifteenth, Sixteenth, Seventeenth and Eighteenth Wards, the interest in the primaries was shout. S. T. Maddox will seek to remain on the State Committee, but the place will be sought by Louis E. Nfoot, David Lindsay and C. D. Rhinchart. It is regarded as probable that Mr. Maddox will be named.

ELECTION INSPECTORS

ELECTION INSPECTORS APPOINTED.

THE DEMOCRATIC HALF DIVIDED INTO THE SAME PROPORTIONS AS LAST YEAR.

Another step in the direction of Democratic " peace and harmony " was taken yesterday when Police Commissioners Mason, Matthews and Nichols met to appoint inspectors of election. President French did not attend the meeting. His presence was not needed. Messes Nichols and Matthews, representing the Tammany Hall and County Democracy factions of their party, had taken luncheon together at the Metropolitan Hotel and had decided to divide the Democratic patronage according to the basis adopted last year. There was no division in the votes at the meeting, which was held at 2 p. m. Lists of Republican, Tammany, County Democracy and Irving Hall candidates for appointment as inspectors were presented by John J. O'Brien, Chief of the Bureau of Elections, marked respectively A. B. of the Bureau of Elections, marked respectively A, B, C, and D. Commissioner Nichols said that although he believed that Tammany Hall was entitled to make all the Democratic inspectors, he would yield to the desire for harmony in the ranks of the party, and he moved that the Democratic inspectors be appealed as follows: five-twelfths of the Tammany list, five-twelfths of the County Democracy list, and two-twelfths of the Irving Hall list. Commissioner Matthews said that while he did not agree with the introductory remarks he would support the motion, and it was carried by a manimous vote. The Republican list was adopted complete on motion of Mr. Mason.

support the motion, and it was carried by a manimous vote. The Republican list was adopted complete on motion of Mr. Mason.

The lists of poll cerks were not complete and no action was taken on them, but it was understood that the Democratic clerks would be appointed in the same ratio as the inspectors. Several Democratic local politicisans were at Police Headquarters in consultation with the Commissioners, but they all left the building before the presence of Mr. Mason masic it possible for a meeting to be held. Mr. Mchols said after the meeting that he expected Tammany Hall to be represented in the Democratic State Convention in the same proportion as was followed in the appointment of the inspectors.

REPUBLICAN ASSOCIATION MEETINGS.

At the meeting of the IId Assembly District three was appointed to prepare a ballot for the coming I primary election. Another meeting will be held on Friday evening. A meeting of the Executive Committee of the VIIth Assembly District Republican Association was held last night at the headquarters, No. 56 Chaton-place, President C. Van Cott in the chair. The following men were named as delegates and alternates to be voted for at th primary on Friday evening: Delegates—John D. Law-son, Charles Uirich, I. Watts Russell, George W. Parker, A. D. Carinek, Alternates—A. Couking, Lispenard Stewart, William Housner, Jr., T. J. McManon and J. C.

Williamson.

The regular meeting of the XXIIId District Republican Association was held last night. A large number of new members were admitted and a resolution offered by M. E. Crastow was adopted. The resolution provides for a union ticket for the association and the Young Republican Club. The ticket will give equal representation on each delegation, and will distribute the chairmanships between the two organizations in as nearly equal a manner as possible.

NEGOTIATING FOR A UNION.

The Executive Committee of the County Democracy met last evening at the headquarters, No. 1 nare, and discussed at length the law under which the fortbeoming primaries will be held. A call will be prepared and submitted to the County Com-mittee, which will meet on Friday evening. A communication was received from Sidney P. Nichols temporary chairman of the Tammany Hall General Committee, setting forth the action of that body relative to uniting with other Democratic organizations in select ing a delegation to the State Convention, and stating that a committee of twenty-four had been ap-pointed to confer with the County Democracy and Irving Hall. It was resolved that the matter be referred to the County Committee.

The sub-committee of seven of the Tammany Hall The sub-committee of seven of the Tammany Hall Conference Committee will to-day prepare and forward a communication to the County Democracy and Irving Hall, setting forth the action of Tammany. It is not expected that a union will follow these negotiations. Each organization will probably clock a full delegation to the state Convention.

The Executive Committee of the Irving Hall General Committee met yesterday for the purpose of agreeing upon a call for the primaries. The formal call will be unade at the meeting of the General Committee this evening. It has been decided that the Irving Hall delegation will go to the State Convention in a special train, probably by the Eric Kailroad.

THE PEMBERTON WILL CASE.

TESTIMOAY THAT MRS. PEMBERTON INTENDED TO FAVOR ALL HER CHILDREN.

FREEHOLD, N. J., Sept. 11.-Another hearing has just been held in the contest over the will of the late Mrs. Caroline Pemberton, who died in London several months ago. Her daughter, Caroline H. Pemberton, of Asbury Park, produced a will which leaves her nearly all her mother's property. This will is contested by her brothers, John P. Pemberton and H. H. Pemberton, physicians at Long Branch. Samuel A. Cook, a lawyer physicians at Long Branch. Samuel A. Cook, a lawyer of Camden, testified that he was summoned to the bedside of Mrs. Pemberton a few hours before her death, and that she was at the time mentally sound and legally competent to make a will. She told wriness to draw up a will in substance that her three children might share a will in substance that her three children might share equally in her property. She died, however, before the will was drawn up. The daughter was present, but made no mention of the will drawn in her favor.

For several minutes before the collisten our engineer was blowing the whistle, whether as a danger signal or to put on brakes I on the brakes and I got up to see what the matter was. I believe that the action saved me from severe bruises. I saw on the track just ahead of us an engine that appeared to be by itself and that was apparently standing still. The next moment the two engines came together and I was thrown forward against the door and bruised slightly about the head. The car was pretty full, and the people had to get out through the windows, I found that the second car had telescoped our ear all the way through the smoking compartment at the rear end into the main car. So far as I could see, the only people injured in our car were those in the smekingroom. Of course I was auxious to render all the assistance I could, and went back into the car. I examined one man-I think his name was Bartonbut found that he only had a splinter through his leg. I turned my attention to Herbert or Robert Smith, of No. 186 East Eightieth-st., who was lying with his legs under the platform. We had to cut a part of the side of the car out to get at him, and endeavored to extricate him from under the platform the use of jack-screws, but it unavailing and we had to cut his legs off where he lay. He was suffering from compound comminuted fracture of both legs just below the knees. All the arteries were broken, and the bones of the legs were completely crushed. I knew as soon as I saw him that his case was hopeless, as he had literally bled to death. He spoke to some friends who were with him, and I think said that he was employed by Kelly & Biss. He neted with great fortitude and made no complaints. "I should say that we were going at the rate of thirty miles an hour when the collision occurred. There were quite a number of ladies in our car, and the excitement was intense for a while We succeeded in getting them all out, and so far as I saw there were none of them indured. In the crowd that was on the train it is simply wonderful that there were not more injured than there appears to be. The only people in anthority that I saw were the physician of the railroad, the Coroner and a Mr. McDonald, who seemed to have charge of the station. Among the passengers on the train I saw Dr. H. Marion Sims. He must have cone home a tonce, however. I felt considerably shaken up by the shock and the subsequent excitement, and as soon as I had performed the operation on Smith I came home." legs were completely crushed. I knew as soon as I

T. H. FRENCH'S EXPERIENCE. T. Henry French, the well-known the-atrical publisher, was sitting in the front end of the Woodruff coach. He was thrown forward on the seat in front of him, and was injured in the face. When a TRIBUNE reporter saw him about midnight at Delmonico's Twenty-sixth-st. house, where he lives, staunched French had not staunched of blood from the nose, the though he had bad the advice of his physician. "We were within 300 yards of the depot when the accident occurred," he "but exactly how it happened snid. I cannot say. The car next to the parlor car in which I was sitting was telescoped into our car. The persons who were killed were behind me in the same car. I am not sure that they were not standing on the platform of the car, but I do not know positively.

"I have just returned from California, and in the last mouth have travelled at least 5,000 miles by railroad; but the Long Island Railroad is the most execrable road I have ever yet seen. Why the company had better send over to the Pennsylvania and get one of its newsooys for a superina great deal better management. The Long Island is the worst railroad I ever travelled A friend of Mr. French's, who was present in his room, cautioned him: "Oh! you don't mean that for publication."

"Yes, I do," Mr. French exclaimed with great heat; "I mean precisely that, I never saw a worse managed road in all my life," Was there any one at Long Island City to meet you ?" the reporter inquired. "Of course not," Mr. French replied. "The only assistance which the injured received was given by their fellow passengers who were not hurt. An officer of the company! I did not see or hear of Barney " Aaron was sitting near him and he said to Mr. Mann that he doubted whether the engineer could stop the train, if necessary. As they reached the depot and the speed was not lessened the passengers heard a sound that resembled escaping steam, which Mr. Mann afterward learned was caused by the defective air-brake. Just then a Mr. Snedeker, of this city, who was sitting in the front part of the car and had caught a glimpse of the approaching Flushing train, jumped from his seat, raised his hands and shouted: "For God's sake, rush to the other end of the car." Without stopping to question the cause of the command, the terrified passengers quickly obeyed, and to this circumstance is attributed the fact that all the passengers in that car escaped injury, many of them jumping from the car in time, to escape the shock. Mr. Mann assisted in belping many of the less fortunate passengers from the parlor car-

Police Sergeant Carroll, of Long Island City, was well back in the Manhattan train. "The shock of the two trains," he said, "did not appear to me to be severe. I have been in five ratiroad accidents before -three on this same road-and have felt some severe shocks. I helped get Smith out. He showed as fine pluck as I ever saw a man display. the other smashed, he kept up a determined front. We took him into the conductors' room after we got him out of the wreck, and he expired almost im mediately."

Mr. Bunt, the barkeeper at the Haymarket, said : "I received a bad gash across my right forehead and a number of ents and bruises. I was sitting in the parlor car, and the first warning I had of the collision was a violent snock. I was hit, I don't know how or by what. The car was full and nearly everybody was thrown in a state of great excitement. The front end of the second car had smashed in on the rear end of our car and the people were in the midst of a pile of timbers. Somebody cried !' because the smoke-from one of engines, I guess-was coming into our car. I got a short ladder that was near the wasn-stand-I guess it was used to stand on to light the lamps-and began to smash a window with it to get out. Col-onel Bruce, of The Turf, Field and Farm, hollered out 'Keep cool; don't get out of the windows,' So I went out of the front door and helped to get people out of the wreek. I tell you it was awnit. One of the poor fellows it took two hours to get out. Somebody says the whistles biew and people were getting up before the crash came, but I didn't notice anytaing of that."

SCENES AND INCIDENTS.

William McLean, an undertaker, of No. 234 West Thirty-nigth-st., we o was on the train which followed the Manbattan train fifteen minutes later, hastened to the wrock as soon as his

KILLED IN A RAILWAY WRECK train arrived. He heard groans and cries for help proceeding from under the door of the parlor-car, and with aid succeeded in getting out Vernon Barton. of No. 205 West Thirty-fourth-st., who had been thrown under the debris. "Barton," said Mr. McLean, "had a large splinter in the calf don't know. Just previous to the collision he put of his left leg. After we got him out, he took hold of this and pulled it out. He was taken across the river on a stretcher and then home, not going to the hospital at all." The deck hauds on one of the Long Island City ferry-boats, on which those injured who were able to walk crossed to this city, said that the number of those slightly injured must have been about forty. "Some of them," one man stated, "had bruises on their faces; Some were cut about the head and hands; some were limping, and all looked pretty badly shaken Aside from those who were taken up. across on shutters and sent to Bellevue Hospital, none appeared badly wounded. Scratches, slight cuts and contasions were apparently the extent of their injuries."

THE ENGINEER UNDER SURVEILLANCE.

E. T. McDonald, the detective of the railroad company, said to a TRIBUNE reporter that he was standing in the yard when the collision occurred, and hastening to the wreck recognized Smith jammed in among the broken seats and timbers. Smith leaned over and said: "Is that you, 'Mac'?" Being assured that it was, he smiled and then lay in the detective's arms until he was removed to the conductors' room, where he died. The detective and Dr. Dennier both assured the reporter that no arrests would be made last night, although both called at Glenn's house at different times; the detective had been instructed to arrest Glenn, but he was informed by Dr. Dennler that the engineer was too ill to leave his bed.

A JURY EMPANELLED.

Coroner Robinson was one of the passengers on the car next to the excursion car which telescoped the coach. He was with a number of friends, and was returning from the races. "The first intimation I had that there was an accident," he said to a TRIBUNE reporter, "was a dull crash and a sudden stopping of the train. There was only a single shock; nothing to indicate that a collision had taken place. Several persons near me were thrown forward on the back of the benches in front of them, but they were not hurt. You ask me who I think is to blame? My best answer is my instructions to the detectives to arrest Glenu, the engineer of the Manhattan Beach train. I shall hold an inquest at my office on Friday at p. m. My jury and myself have already taken a view of the scene of the accident and we shall endeavor to bring punishment to the guilty parties.

The Coroner selected his jury within half an hour after the accident. The following persons were selected as jurors: Peter Scouler, Augustus Auten-reith, George Pierce, G. T. Van Riper, J. T. Snedi-ker, J. E. MeLaughtin, John Theobold, Robert Marshall and Sylvester Gray.

"When we were coming across the ferry we heard a great noise and groaning in the cabin. Wright Sanford, who was not hurt, and I went to see if we could be of any assistance, supposing that some person injured in the collision was aboard the ferry-boat. Well, we were rather disgusted when we discovered nothing more than a drunken Irish fineral returning from the cemistery. But, i tell you, if this Long Island Raifrond is allowed to go on it will fill every cemetery in Long Island; yes, and every one within fiftymiles of this city. There will be no room anywhere except for its victims."

ACCOUNTS GIVEN BY PASSENGERS.

"Harry" Mann, formerly manager of Haverly's Fourteenth Street Theaire, was in the car next to he parlor, and jumped off just as the engines came ogether. He said to a reporter that he was itting in the rear seat of the car and noticed that he train was running at a high rate of speed.

Mr. Curtis is a gentleman of leisure who inherited money and has had large opportunities for travel and education. appears to have a passion for keeping a diary, in which he records the most minute details of his every-day Mr. Curtis is the "mysterious stranger or nervous man," whom the newspapers have made so much of as the possible murderer of Rose Ambler at Stratford, Conn. He spends his summers at Stratford, where he has a large number of relatives. He went there this year as usual to enjoy his favorite pastime of reading and drawing. He left there yesterday morning and reached Philadelphia yesterday evening to consult with Colonel R. P. Dechert, his counsel, in relahave used his name in connection with this murder.

He said: "On August 15 I went to Stratford and there remained until yesterday. I drove two or three times to Bridgeport, but after leaving Stratford on July 13 I was never to come to Philadelphia. This disposes of the ridiculous stories of my insuiting ladies in the steam cars. I was never on the road or near the bridge where the murdered lady's body was found but once, and this was when Theodore Bristol drove me over from Milford to Stratford. While in Stratford I spent Stratford. While in Stratford I spent my time among my relatives in walking, reading and sketching. I never made any acquaintances in the town, I did not know Rose Ambler. I never heard of her, and until Monday I did not know that my name had been mentioned in connection with the murder."
Colonel Dechert said: "I want to say that whenever Mr. Currls is wanted by the anthorities of Connecticut on any charge whatever he will promptly appear there."
"I see that the detective claims to have found some handkerehlels with bl. od spots on them in your room," said the reporter. said the reporter.

"That is a be," replied Mr. Curtis. "The marks on the culfs were spatters of red tooth paste and not blood. The scratches on my hands were the result of a contest with mosquitoes who got the better of me, and are thus easily accounted for."

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.]

Boston, Sept. 11 .- The following letter from John G. Whittler was read at the recent celebration of the Rev. C. B. Rice's twentieth anniversary as paster of the First Church in Danvers: " I very much regret that I am not able to be with you at the gathering this evening. I am, it is true, better acquainted with the gentleman whom you deservedly honor on this occasion as a kind friend and neighbor and public spirited citizen than as a minister, but the fact that he has held his pulpit for twenty years is proof that that as his head his purple for twenty years is proof the has done good service in it. During this long period. I have never heard that his parish has been troubled by the bodily presence of that evil and disreputable person age with whom his predecessor fought such a losing battle. As a consequence of this he has had no occasion to spend his time in searching for whiches among the colorly ladies of his congregation, and the sound theology of his people under his ministrations has made heresymmetric solutions to unnecessary that the solitary Quaker who has solourned within the parish limits still remains unchanged. Pleasantry apart, I beg leave to add my congractulations to yours and to express my best wishes for my friend Rice and his family."
